

Today Pope Francis led the Church in celebrating the lives and holiness of several women and men, among them Pope Paul VI, Bishop Oscar Romero, Mother Maria Kasper and Mother Nazaria Mesa whom he declared to be saints.

After the death of St. John XXIII, St. Paul VI called the Church to continue the Second Vatican Council and led us in implementing the call of the Holy Spirit in that Council to seek a New Pentecost. He died on August 6, 1978.

St. Oscar Romero served God's People in El Salvador during that nation's tragic civil war, calling for an end to injustice and violence while bringing Jesus' compassion to the poor and suffering. For daring to defend the defenceless, he was shot to death while celebrating mass on March 24, 1980.

St. Maria Kasper of Germany wanted to be a religious sister, but the secular climate of the time offered few options. She gathered other women into her home from which they served the sick and poor, eventually founding their own order of the Poor Handmaidens of Jesus Christ. St. Maria entered eternity on January 27, 1898. This year her Sisters mark the 150th anniversary of their foundation; they live and serve in five continents.

St. Nazaria Mesa of Spain began her religious life in one order but found her zeal for ministry was limited by the order's approach. She decided to begin a New Order called Missionary Crusaders of the Church. St. Nazaria's goal was nothing less than to "re-Christianize" the world. She and her sisters ministered to soldiers in time of war and established homes for children orphaned by war. She founded a magazine to foster unity and growth among women religious and established the first women's trade union. St. Nazaria completed her earthly pilgrimage on July 6, 1943.

Thanking God for these new saints, we ask that God continue to bless the Church with the faith of St. Paul VI, the courage of St. Oscar, the generosity of St. Maria and the vision of St. Nazaria

The Twenty-Eighth Sunday in Ordinary Time

Wisdom and Riches

The rich man wants to have it both ways: he wants his possessions and he wants everlasting life. Jesus shatters his illusion; you can't have both, Jesus says. The rich man goes away sad, prompting Jesus to comment on the difficulty of being rich and entering the kingdom.

This is "God's word that is living and effective, sharper than any two-edged sword," and this is the spirit of Wisdom of which the first reading speaks: we are to value each other as if we were prime possessions, and the promise of everlasting life is made to those who have the power to give all they have to their brothers and sisters, especially those most in need.

Then who can be saved? Those whose love for God expresses itself in eagerness to do good for others.

Neither individuals nor nations should regard the possession of more and more goods as the ultimate objective. Every kind of progress is a two-edged sword. It is necessary if man is to grow as a human being; yet it can also enslave him, if he comes to regard it as the supreme good and cannot look beyond it. When this happens, men harden their hearts, shut out others from their minds and gather together solely for reasons of self-interest rather than out of friendship; dissension and disunity follow soon after. Thus, the exclusive pursuit of material possessions prevents man's growth as a human being and stands in opposition to his true grandeur. Avarice, in individuals and in nations, is the most obvious form of stultified moral development.

And now, a word from our Pastor:

I'm official. On Sunday, October 14 at the 10 am Liturgy, our regional Bishop Kasun installed me as pastor of St. Bonaventure. ("Installed" makes it sound like I'm a new kitchen appliance.) The ritual was simple, yet symbolic, expressing the three roles of a Catholic leader. To emphasize the work of sanctifying, leading God's People in the ways of love and holiness, Bishop Kasun led me to the Baptismal font-the source of God's love and life in us. To underline the duty of preaching and teaching God's goodness and truth, he brought me to the ambo (pulpit) - the throne of God's Word. And to symbolize my responsibility for the welfare of the community, Bishop Kasun presented the keys of the parish to me. I am very humbled by God's call to be with you and serve you. The New Testament says: God's flock is in your midst; give it a shepherd's care." Please keep me in a prayer so that I can do that. With thanks and a prayer.

Congratulations to Gavin Kottege, Althea Opeña, Lucas Webb, and Xavier Zonnekeyn who were given new birth by water and the Holy Spirit and welcomed into God's Holy People through Baptism.
